

MEDIA = VIRUS

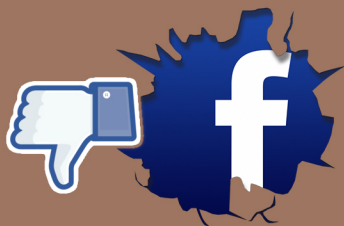

Your opinion counts. We've said it before. MSM, through their globalist masters, also have an opinion. Theirs is undeniably the correct one. You dare not disagree. If you do, they'll fact check you. Do they really? Turns out that not everyone is honest. When fact checking becomes opinion, it smells of tyranny. It stinks. Facebook, Twitter and MSM follow the same agenda. If one is proven wrong, the rest could be just the same. It's up to you, the reader, to do your own fact checking. Be careful out there. The world will be a better place in 2022. Merry Christmas to all of you.

QUOTE: 'Fact checking' is opinion journalism pretending to be some sort of heightened objectivity - James Taranto

This roadmap to a vaccine passport was compiled and distributed by the European Union before Covid was even discovered in China. An inconvenient coincidence? You decide.

Fact checking is just opinion. Who would've known?
What Facebook has acknowledged is exactly the same as what MSM have often been doing. Opinion is hidden behind selective "facts" to "proof" that MSM is correct.

FACEBOOK ADMITS IN COURT THAT 'FACT CHECKS' ARE JUST OPINION

Despite presenting itself to the public as the arbiter of truth and guarantor of factually-accurate information, guarding users against "fake news" and "misinformation," Facebook has admitted in court that its "fact checks" of information — frequently aimed at conservatives — are nothing more than statements of opinion.

The bombshell emerged from Facebook's court battle with John Stossel, who is suing the company for defamation over its decision to add "fact check" labels to the libertarian pundit's videos about climate change.

Many scientists do not share Coetzee's views. "It's utter rubbish and betrays a complete lack of understanding of basic epidemiology," Deepti Gurdasani, senior lecturer at the William Harvey Research Institute at Queen Mary University of London, told Newsweek.

"The idea that the Omicron variant, and letting it spread, is in any way a good thing is completely nuts. Data from South Africa has shown more than doubling of hospitalizations each week, and predictably with lags, deaths are also now increasing in both Tshwane and Johannesburg.

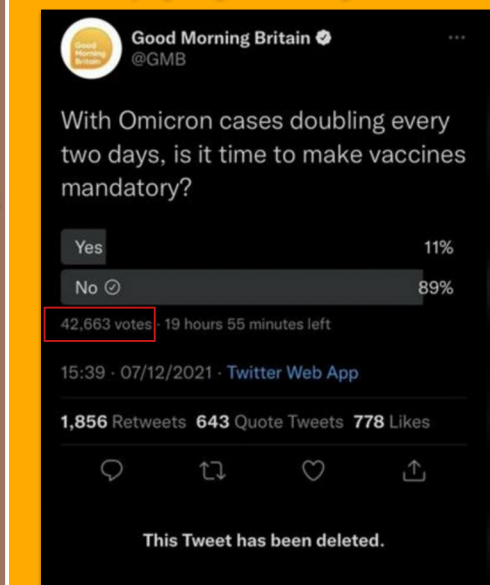

Do you know many people have died from this new variant in SA? MSM does not want to tell you. They only focus on infections. That alone should tell you something. The answer: 0 - nobody.

Influenza kills up to 1,000 people in SA every month. Omicron is a relatively harmless little virus. It seems we have nothing to panic about. Nothing to fear. Enjoy Christmas and New Year with family & friends.

Omicron should only get positive press. MSM can be so pathetic. They love scaremongering more.

More than 42,000 votes were cast in this poll. The results were removed. Democracy, according to many democrats, is only democracy if you tow their line. The results could have been predicted by M=V. We are many & growing. We are seeing their contradictions.

Governments Are 'Overreacting' to Omicron Says Angelique Coetzee, Scientist Who Helped Identify It

BY ED BROWNE ON 12/14/21 AT 12:57 PM EST

Angelique Coetzee, chair of the South African Medical Association, says she was one of the first people in the world to have raised the alarm about the new variant of concern, though it should be noted that the variant was first collected and sequenced by others, as Newsweek previously reported.

But Coetzee has criticized restrictions. She wrote in the Daily Mail that she was "astonished by the extraordinary worldwide reaction" to Omicron, referring to travel and domestic restrictions in the U.K. and Europe.

"To date, some 23.5 million Britons have had all three vaccinations, so it's completely over the top to be talking about Plan Cs or lockdowns," she added. "Indeed, I am disappointed by such knee-jerk reactions. They bear no relation to what we're seeing in surgeries in South Africa, where people rarely even discuss Omicron."

In an opinion article for British newspaper the Daily Mail on Monday, Coetzee took aim at the U.K. government's reaction to the Omicron variant, which she called a "huge over-reaction" and "out of all proportion to the risks posed by this variant."
