

MEDIA = VIRUS

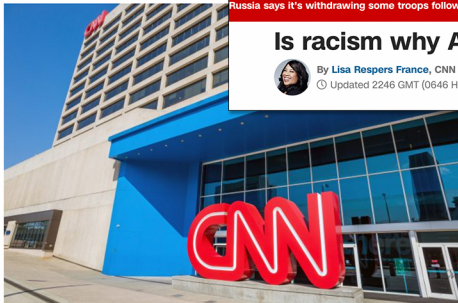

Cable News Network. Found in hotel rooms around the world (well, perhaps not in China where only noodles are found). Distinctly unpopular MSM. On the other hand, we have Joe Rogan. With an average of 11 million viewers and listeners per show, he is around 17x more popular than CNN. Joe will have a meaningful conversation on just about anything and with anybody to get a wide-ranging perspective on many subjects. What Joe is doing, the MSM should be doing. They just don't. They pretend their views are the reflection of the majority. They are not, and they know this. What is the difference between CNN and the Titanic? The Titanic still had all its anchors when it sank. People were also sad when the Titanic sank.

LAW & CRIME A DAN ABRAMS PRODUCTION Hospital CEO Wins Major Court Victory After Accusing CNN of False Reporting

RACHEL STOCKMAN Feb 15th, 2017, 5:31 pm

Those who accuse CNN and other mainstream media outlets of "fake news" will probably revel in a recent decision by a federal judge in Atlanta, Georgia. While Judge Orinda Evans didn't all out declare that CNN was peddling in falsehoods, she did take aim at the network in an initial judgment in favor of a former hospital CEO who sued CNN accusing them of purposely skewing statistics to reflect poorly on a West Palm Beach hospital. Judge Evans didn't mince words in her 18-page order allowing the case to move forward, and dismissing CNN's attempt to get it thrown out of court.

Waukesha will hold a moment of silence today, marking one week since a car drove through a city Christmas parade, killing six people and injuring scores of others.

Since "a car drove" into a parade?

How about since a "violent, homicidal racist and career criminal" drove into a parade?

How does anyone work at @CNN anymore without looking in the mirror and vomiting. You are a disaster and a pathetic joke.

Joe Rogan has unwittingly become public enemy No. 1 in recent weeks, at least among some.

Aging artists like Neil Young and Joni Mitchell have fueled a boycott movement against Spotify while top Biden officials like White House Press Secretary Jen Psaki and U.S. Surgeon General Vivek Murthy have urged the streaming giant to do more to crack down on so-called COVID "misinformation."

Political operatives have also been digging up Rogan's most offensive comments in the podcast archives, including a compilation of him using the N-word, to further attack his character.

Why shrugging off Joe Rogan's use of the n-word is so dangerous

Analysis by John Blake, CNN

Updated 1850 GMT (0250 HKT) February 13, 2022

(CNN) — The podcaster Joe Rogan did not join a mob that forced lawmakers to flee for their lives. He never carried a Confederate flag inside the US Capitol rotunda. No one died trying to stop him from using the n-word.

But what Rogan and those that defend him have done since video clips of him using the n-word surfaced on social media is arguably just as dangerous as what a mob did when they stormed the US Capitol on January 6 last year.

Rogan breached a civic norm that has held America together since World War II. It's an unspoken agreement that we would never return to the kind of country we used to be.

That agreement revolved around this simple rule:

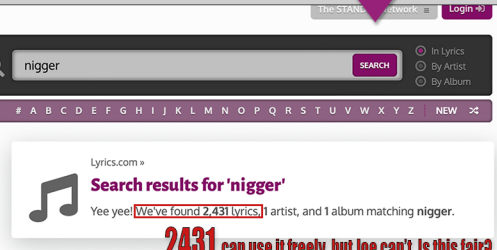

A White person would never be able to publicly use the n-word again and not pay a price.

2431 can use it freely, but Joe can't. Is this fair?

If the use of the n-word is so very degrading, then why do Black people use it so often on themselves?

Why not ban it outright like SA has done with the k-word?

At least 730 songs with the n-word found on Spotify.

Typical pathetic CNN wokeness. The Cervix is only found in women.
